THE GAZETTE.

THURSDAY JULY 14. The next president of the United States -elected next year-will not be afraid to go to St. Louis or anywhere else, and have a little fun with the soldier bors.

A man who can be happy with the thermometer at III in the shade, will have no trouble in keeping his temper while reading the mugwamp press on the Grand Army of the Republic.

The "reform" which this administration is inaugurating in New York, will cost the government $385,000 more per aunum than before. The word "reform" does not mean what people think it does. According to the democratic vocabulary, it means to give all the offices you can to democrats, regardless of ex-

The new pistol law in Texas, which west into effect on July 4, punishes by fine and imprisonment all persons who carry on or about their persons, saddles, or in their saddle-bags a pistol, dirk or other deadly weapon. And to a drummer who asked if he could not carry a pistol in his traveling-bag "The Galveston News" replies no, unless he has his traveling-bag cucoked, as it is the evident purpose of the law to prevent people from having pistols within easy reach. For a wild sort of a state which used to be an asylum for horse-thieves and murderers, Texas is making a splendid record. Her pistol law should attract the attention of Kentacky.

Certainly there has never before been a president who was so auxious to lay before the public his personal motives, before the public his potsonal motives, feelings, intentious, disappointments and anxieties. An official in Buffalo might perhaps see that the associates knew all about himself, but there is much greater propriety in that than in the President publishing to the United States how has feelings have been 'hurt.'

New York Sun.

The foregoing is from a democrat paper, which should refer to the President significance which commands special atgently. He has more responsibility tention. resting upon his shoulders than any other president ever had. He has the mugwamps to please, and that is enough to make any president fretful and sourmake any president fretful and sour. Then public office is such a weighty public trust, that even a man of 320 with 14 boots, can't stand under the load and maintain his confliction. maintain his equilibrium, either physigenerally, which the most unpractised cally or mentally. So it the democratic Sun doesn't like the president's temper it must charge the chief cause of it to mugwumps whom he is trying to carry.

"I am by the means certain of my standing here among these who celebrate the centen-nial of Clinton's existence as a village. My and of Charlon's existence as a village. My recollections of the place reach backward but about thirty-six years, and my residence here covered a very brief period. But those recollections are fresh and distinct to-day, and pleasant too, though not entirely free from somber coloring. It was here in the school at the foot of College hill that I began my preparation for college hile and enjoyed the anticipation of collegiate education. The Elevated Road's Strike. New York, July 14.—The strike on the Brooklyn Elevated railrond is still on, but there is only one scenning drawback to its settlement—the refusal of the railroad officials to submit their side of the case to arbi-tration. Florence Donovan, a member of the State Board of Arbitration went Brooklyn and invited Superintendent Mar-tin, of the road, to meet the strikers for the purpose of arbitrating the existing difficul-ties, but Mr. Martin sent back word that the company had nothing to arbitrate, and refused to meet Mr. Donovan. They promised to meet the strikers in conference to-day. Frains were running on about twenty minates headway yesterday. At a meeting of strikers last night the opinion was general that the trouble would be settled to-day.

EL PASO, Texas, July 14.—A press corrospondent has sont the following to his paper: "I have just returned from the scene of the only active volcane in North America. The trip was one of extraordinary hardship, accomplished in the face of obstacles of which the ontire absence of any road, an arid desert of over 100 miles across, and the blazing stan of a tropical zone were compleuous features. the vicinity of Bavispo, but a little prior to the vicinity of Bavispo, but a little prior to this we had the first intimation of siesmic disturbance in the shape of a fluttering tre-mor of the earth. These shocks, which were slight and undulating, increased in frequency as we drew near the town, until scarcely at as we drow hear the town, difficult in them, we came in sight of Bavispe about 10 o'clock in the morning, and the first thing that met our sight was a haddled encampment of Seventhal metal and the metal metal in the morning of the head mesal mesal metal mesal mesa our sight was a haddled oncampment of several hundred people on the broad mesa that flanks the town. Bavispe itself may be spoken of in the past tense, for it no longer exists. On the list of last May, just at the gray of dawn, the villagers were awakened by a sickehing shudder of the earth, followed by a quick tremor that reduced half of the adobes of the place to ruins: Creeping out from the week of their dwellings, they sought safety on the level ground, where a sort of encampment was formed, and thence in time the entire village has migrated. Since that morning of desolution and terror there has been no day unaccompanied by an earthquake.

Sometimes it has been so violent as to loosen masses of rock and open vast fissures in the mountain-side, and sometimes it is an ost imperceptible vibration, but never has it entirely ceased, and the superstitious has it entirely caused, and the superstitious Mexicans have given themselves up to the apathy of despair. Our appearance, which in other times would have convulsed the viluteration. The town, or rather, what was the town, looks like the broken toy village of a child. There is not a house left standing. Shattered heaps of adobes and yawning holes mark the site, and mingled in the ruins are the few utensils of their domestic life, for which a superstitious terror forbade them to return. Many have terror forbade them to return. Many have terror forbade them to return. Brany have gone toward the south, but the bulk of the people are far too poor to undertake a journey which, without resources, means death. So they have camped within sight of the wreck of their homes, in mute and pathetic helplessuess. The mortality which attended this disaster must have been great, but it was almost impossible to

Fatal Railway Collision.

Cynthana, My, July 14.—The south-bound passenger train, due here on the Kentucky Central railroad at 11a. m., collided with a construction train several uniles below this city. The passenger train was rounding a short curve a half mile south of Robinson, when struck by the engine of the construction train. Engineer Joe Paul, of the train, was killed, being injured about the head and scalded by steam. His fireman, Charlie Sidles, was severely cut about the head, but his injuries are not serious. Engineer Ed Price, Fireman Ed Morris, Baggagemuster Doyle and Conductor Farmer were badly bruised and shaken up; the passengers were which attended this disaster must have been great, but it was almost impossible to draw any of the people into conversacion, and quite so to obtain any accurate information. Over twenty sunken places in the mess marked recent graves, and as many more dead are probably lying in the ruins. "From Bavispo we had our first sight of our objective point, the volcane. A pennant of smoke, traited by the wind from a low, square-topped peak to the southwest, defined its location, while a dull and muttering roar, almost messant, told that the forces of nature word at work. The volcane lies about twelve miles from the site of the town, but over such an extraordinary broken tract of country that we realized at ones that it would require two days' journey to reach it, and pashed straight abead without delay. The phenomena which we had observed at Bavispo increased in volume as we approached the mountain. We followed the dry bed of a stream which at some forgotten period had worn a causoway through the granite. I was broken by lissaces of ovident recent origin, transing from north to south, and in some cases four or five foot broad and of unknown depth. Springing from one of these, about four miles out, we encountered a goyser, rivaling those in the National park. The maids of honor to the queen earn every penny of the £300 a year which is their stipend for filling a very difficult position. With the best of intentions and with the kindest heart in the world, the queen expects so much for business and pleasure, that she may perhaps be excused for sometimes forgetting that the flesh, especially aristocratic flesh, is weak. The maids of honor are on duty for a month at a time, and at the end of the month they are generally fit subjects for a course of tonic treatment. While on duty they cannot call their souls their own. After threatflast, which they take in their own rooms, they have to hold thomselves in instant readiness to obey the queen's summans, which comes the moment Sir Henry Ponsonby quits her majesty's presence, with the For Chicago, Beloit and Rockford*, For Chicago, Beloit and Rockford*, For Madison and Winona, For Madison and Winona, For Evacaville, Madison and St. Paul (new line)* (new line)*.

The drought has rotarded the growth of the plant, but the stand is good and the fields unusually free from weeds. In southern Illinois the corn condition is not so good as in the other divisions of the state. Over half the counties of the state are paying attention to the cultivation of broom-corn, and in the larger portion of these an average crop at least is promised.

The report throws little light on the winter wheat crop, but shows that July 1 is was generally in better condition than at the corresponding date in any year since 1882. corresponding date in any year since 1882. No matter what parts it may flually affect, ontarrh always starts in the head and belongs to the head. There is no mystery about the origin of this direful usease. It begins in a neglected cold. One of the kind that is "sure to be bet-ter in a few days." Thousands of vic-time know how it is by sad experience. Ely's Cream Balm cures colds in the head and catarrh in all its stages. THE ENGLISH SPARBOW.

Many years ago we first made the ac-queictance of the sparrow, and we were fescinated by his samey, contented sirellery. It was in London, and just out side the window within which our stadies were supposed to be carried on, was a leaden roof whereon could be observed at every hour the domestic manners and social customs of these restless little rascals. We were never tired of their antics-their tempestuous love making, The Delay in the Arrival of their indefatigable housekeeping, their petuisut | quarrele, sharp-tongued and sharp-beaked too; and they cast shrewd little glances from time to time at us with much the expression of a party of savages making merry near the great several hours thereafter, the citizens of iled of some divinity. Since those days dome rather blase on this subject, less responsive to the sparrow's advances, and have finally come to consider him no better than a winged rat. In fact he is in one respect a good deal worse, for he is doing what the rate cannot do; driving our song birds from their former haunts about our homes to distant and unknown resorts, where they can be ner. Clarke & Rawson, in May, and on free from his chattering persecutions. About our home there are fewer song birds than ever within our recollection. Not a single cathird came last summer. nor could we hear one about the neighborhood; not a wren; not even the valorque little blue-bird; not a tanager; not a murtin; not an oriole. Formerly there were many, and the greyes morning and evening resounded with their mingled notes; last year they were fewer; this year there were none. A pair of scarlet tanagers and a pair of orchard oriole, were indeed seen for a week or so, but were soon killed or driven off. Only the robins and the spotted thrushes hold their ground, and who can tell how long they will do so? These three pate, sparrows, red-scarrels, and strolling cats have, among them done the mischiof, and school boy with a same of marble, and overy lover of birds should give orders to have all such vermin shot at sight .-From "Eome English Wayside Birds," by

Curious Discovery by Sr. A. H. Parker-No Cases of Repture among the fedians-Mis Explenation of the Phenomenon-the Sapanese and Negrees in the Same Bunt.

"Ruptured people-and that means one man in seven and one woman in tit teen," said Dr. A. H. But, though I have never lost an opportunity to ques-tion them on the subject. I have yet to learn of the first case of hernia among the Indians.

"How do you account for this peculiwhich so far as I know, is original with me, and which accounts for it, at least to my satisfaction. You see hernin is not properly speaking a rupture at all. It is a weakening and relaxation of the mus-cles of the abdomen, which permits the eark containing the intestines, called the peritoreum, to protrude between them, and then the intestines to follow. Now if the Indians never have herns, it must belbecause they never have this week-ness of the muscles of the abdomen, and that again must result from their habits I have satisfied myself that it results from their habit of squatting with their knees drawn up in tront of them, instead of us-ing seats as we do. You see, this exer-cises these particular muscles so constantly that weekness in that region of the body is impossible.

"One case does not prove a theory." "No, but there are other corroborating facts. So for as I can learn the same state of things exists among overy trib or race that practices squatting. For in-stance, you will find no hernia among equating tribes of negroes, and very lit-tle, I think, among the turks or Japanese. I have not completed my investigations conseruing these nations, but I have progressed far enough to be convinced that they shord additional proof of the correctuess of my theory. Indeed, it is correctuess of my meory. Indeed, 15 is proved by certain facts among all races. For children, at the squatting or, marble-playing age, and tailors and other artisan, whose business involves squatting san, whose business involves squatting rarely ever have bernia no [matter what

A Novel Military Machine.

People in many London thoroughfares have been considerably astonished by the have been considerably astonished by the appearance of a strange looking vehicle speeding swiftly along propelled by ten riders, who sat all in a) welke the crew of an elongated university row-toat. This novelty in means of locomotion is to be severely tested with a view to its adoption for military operations. It is the latest adaptation of a "victoria" or "four-in-hand" quadricycle, and it is intended for the rapid transport of infantry from one point to another. When fully manned it carries twelve men who can take with them if ordered a light baggage ant or carries twelve men who can take with them if ordered a light baggage art or ammunition wagon. The advantages of mounting men thus in single-file instead of two or four abreast are, first of all, that the mechine is more managulable, and second, that power for power it presents less surface to a strong head of wind, one of the obstacles most difficult for weights to overcome. The speed that or cyclists to overcome. The speed that can be got out of such a machine by ten or twelve moderate riders is quite surprising. Ten miles an hour would be considered a low average rate, and sixteen have been easily accomplished. It is said to be affected less than any other velocipede by any roughness in the thoroughfares, and it passes over newly-metaled him of road with comparative case. All the tires are wired on the Otto principle, so that they wired on the Onto principle, so that they can not be greatly damaged by cuts from sharp stones. For men mounted thus there is, of course, considerable saving of slabor, and probably other advantages might be claimed from a military point of view. Recently a machine manned by ten riders, who did not take their baggage are with thom, set out from a warehouse van with them, set out from a warehouse on Holborn viaduet at 1 o'clock, when the currents of traffic were running strongly in opposite directions. The whole control and steering of the machine is in the heads of one man and he had no acthe hands of one man, and he had no ap arent difficulty in managing it ever where the thoroughfare was most densely erowded. It turned easily enough in less space than a hansom would have needed and thrended its way among numberless rehicles without mishap, though the driv-ers of cabs and omnibuses neglected their own business to gaze at the strange appa own business to gaze in the straight apparation as it speed past them. The "crew" in charge of this multicycle are all trained volunteers, who will be able to execute any military evolution that may be demanded of them with intelligence, and all minimated of the experiment is one in which infiltrary men take a lively interest. Large numbers of trieveles for use in the Gennan army have lately been supplied, but this latest novelty in velocipedes has no yet been submitted to the agents of any continental power, and will be subjected to its first practical trial for military purposes at Aldershot.
